

Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society Heritage Sunday 2022

Heritage Sunday is a time to celebrate our past. Each of us should take a moment to reflect on the journey that brought us here, to this moment of celebration. Traditions, memories, and moments from the past are part of our story and that story would be lost without the Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society. Our mission is to collect and preserve historical material, provide educational opportunities, and to make information and resources accessible to all and this cannot be done without your support.

In our walls is a lifetime of history that should never be forgotten or misplaced. We cannot do this alone and we need your support. During this time of celebration, we are asking each church to commit to a minimum gift of $100 that will be used to preserve our history, ensuring future generations will be able to see where we have been. The Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society holds denominational records, records of regional classes, districts, and synods, records of more than 900 local churches, and over 350 manuscript collections. An extensive artifact collection relating to the denominations, and the fields served by them are also housed in our archives.

The Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society could not operate without the support of its faithful donors and volunteers. Our churches lead by example and by taking the lead you are giving the children who sit in your church today, the gift of faith and knowledge, that one day as adults they will be able to walk through history and visit our past. You can make your gift online, by text, or by using the QR code below. We are proud to celebrate this Heritage Sunday with you and your congregation as we continue to preserve the past and plan for the future!

Scan the QR Code to GIVE NOW

<http://www.erhistoricalsociety.org>

@erhistoricalsoc

@erhistoricalsociety

Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society Heritage Sunday 2022

Heritage Sunday is a time to celebrate our past. Each of us should take a moment to reflect on the journey that brought us here, to this moment of celebration. Traditions, memories, and moments from the past are part of our story and that story would be lost without the Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society. Our mission is to collect and preserve historical material, provide educational opportunities, and to make information and resources accessible to all and this cannot be done without your support.

In our walls is a lifetime of history that should never be forgotten or misplaced. We cannot do this alone and we need your support. During this time of celebration, we are asking each church to commit to a minimum gift of $100 that will be used to preserve our history, ensuring future generations will be able to see where we have been. The Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society holds denominational records, records of regional classes, districts, and synods, records of more than 900 local churches, and over 350 manuscript collections. An extensive artifact collection relating to the denominations, and the fields served by them are also housed in our archives.

The Evangelical and Reformed Historical Society could not operate without the support of its faithful donors and volunteers. Our churches lead by example and by taking the lead you are giving the children who sit in your church today, the gift of faith and knowledge, that one day as adults they will be able to walk through history and visit our past. You can make your gift online, by text, or by using the QR code below. We are proud to celebrate this Heritage Sunday with you and your congregation as we continue to preserve the past and plan for the future!

Scan the QR Code to GIVE NOW

<http://www.erhistoricalsociety.org>

@erhistoricalsoc

@erhistoricalsociety